Fall Protection – General Requirements (1926.501) was the most frequently cited standard for the 10th consecutive year. • NIOSH has recently approved the first EHMR model without an exhalation valve to assist with reducing the spread of infectious disease through respirators that have exhalation valves. • Respirator design is constantly improving and evolving to meet new challenges. Manufacturers have recently developed innovative NIOSH-approved elastomeric half mask respirator (EHMR) designs that both protect the wearer as well as provide adequate source control

		– protecting others by filtering the wearer’s exhaled air that may contain harmful viruses or bacteria. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • OSHA has announced a national emphasis program geared toward enforcement efforts related to companies that put the largest number of workers at serious risk of contracting coronavirus. It also prioritizes enforcement efforts for employers that retaliate against workers who file complaints about unsafe or unhealthy conditions. • OSHA also updated its Interim Enforcement Response Plan to prioritize on-site workplace inspections where practical, or a combination of on-site and remote inspections. Remote-only inspections will only be conducted if OSHA determines that on-site inspections cannot be performed safely. This NEP replaces the May 26, 2020, memorandum on enforcement.
